

American Government Unit 6 Test Review
The Executive Branch

1. Be able to identify and explain some of the specific roles / jobs that the president has.
2. Be able to identify and explain some things that...
  - a. Increase presidential power and authority
  - b. Decrease or infringe upon presidential power and authority
3. Be able to identify and explain the presidential electoral process / procedures:
  - a. The realities of the popular vote
  - b. The realities of the electoral vote and the Electoral College
  - c. The concept of “winner take all”
  - d. Determining the number of electoral votes for each state
  - e. The potential role of the House of Representatives in presidential elections
  - f. Controversial aspects of the way the United States chooses presidents
4. Be able to identify and explain the qualifications that are required to be the president, as well as some things that are not “required”
5. Be able to identify and explain presidential succession. Who is “next in line” if the something happens to the president?